Behind the gate

Skate Bot's captors had locked him inside an ancient fortress. Beyond the bars, enormous clawed feet paced the hall. He watched, listened, and began to plan.

A friend at the window

A familiar grin appeared at the window. Michel had found him! Between the leaves, he held out a star-shaped key. Skate Bot was no longer alone.

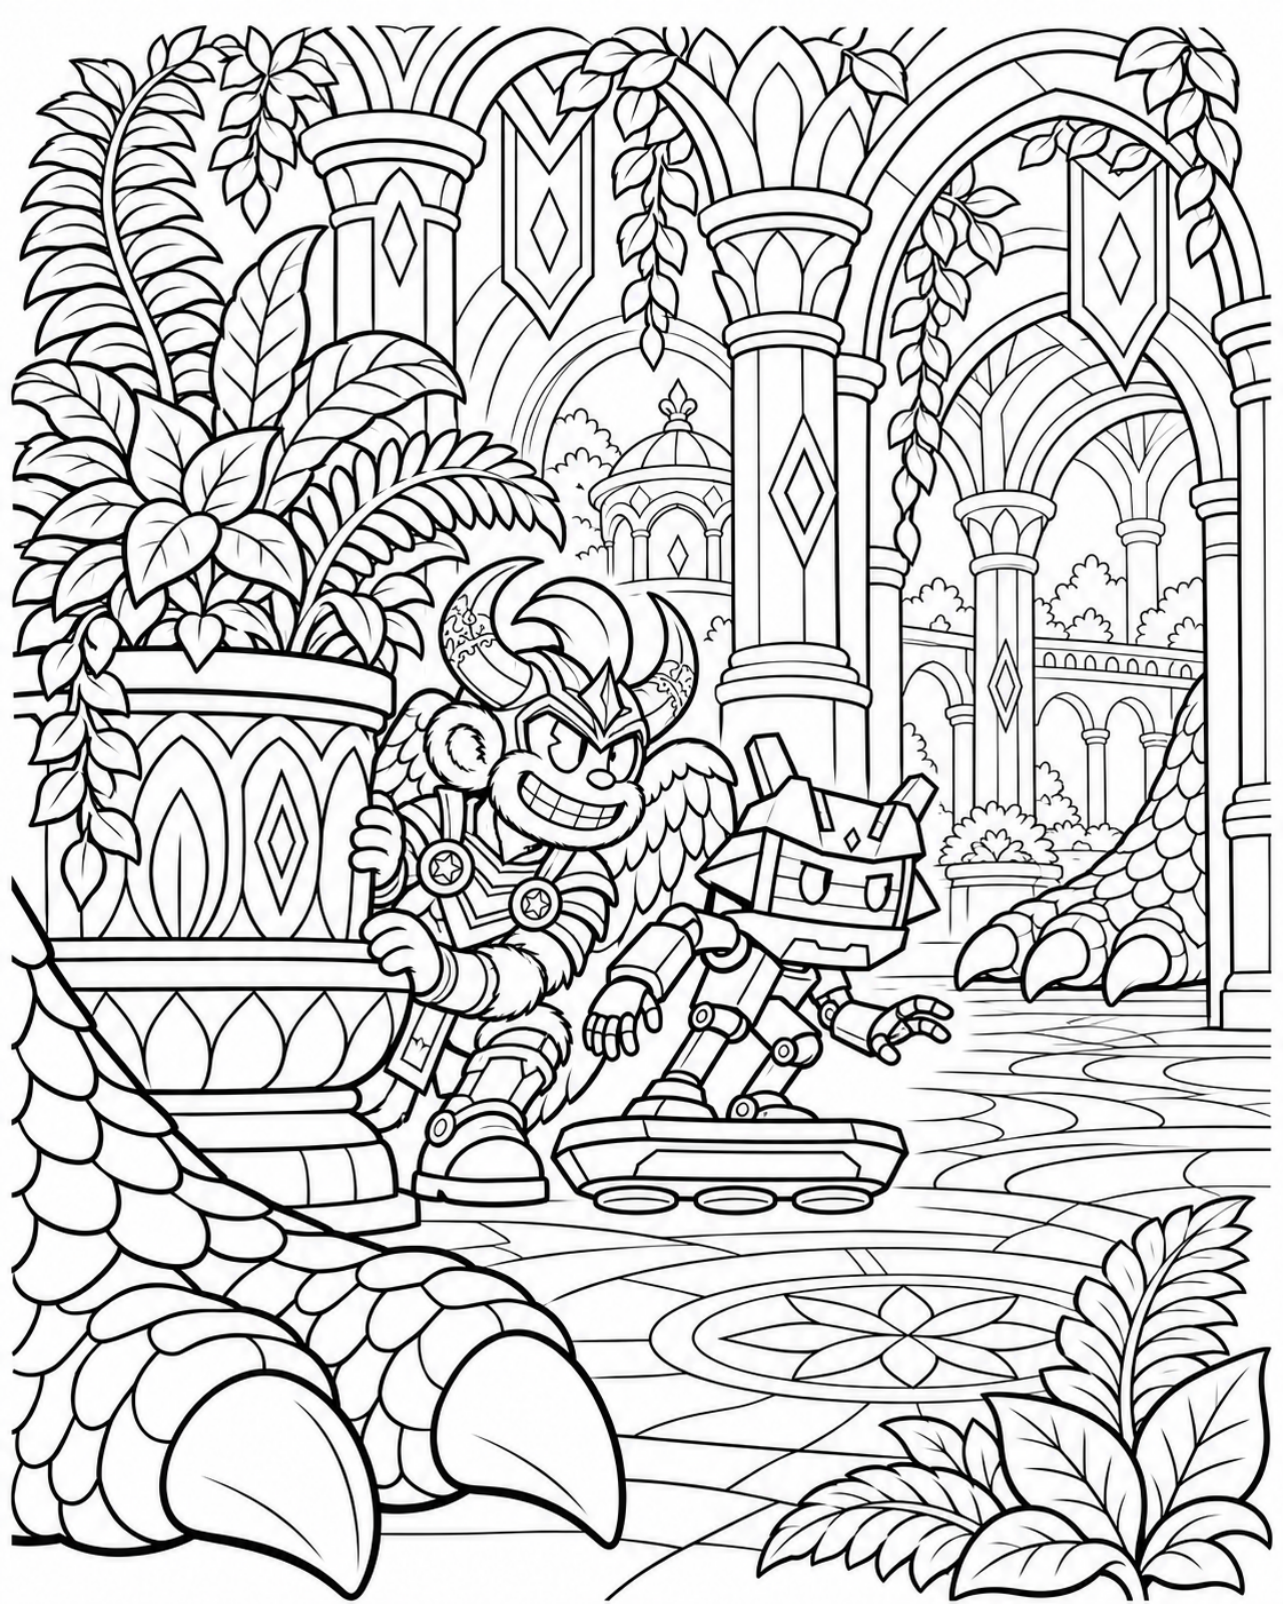

The first click

With one careful turn, the lock clicked open. Michel watched the passage while Skate Bot brought his hoverboard through the gate. Their escape had begun.

Footsteps like thunder

The floor trembled. The friends waited behind a leafy planter until the gigantic footsteps passed. Then, together, they slipped into the quiet corridor.

The crystal crossing

The bridge ended halfway across the stream. Skate Bot trusted his hoverboard; Michel spread his wings. Side by side, they crossed the gap.

A garden keeps a secret

Beyond the crystals, a garden filled the cavern. Michel lifted a curtain of leaves and uncovered a hidden tunnel. Even here, life had found a way.

One last leap

The outer gate stood open. Behind them, another heavy footstep shook the stones. Skate Bot leaped toward the sky, with Michel flying beside him.

A world ahead

At last, the fortress lay behind them. Skate Bot and Michel celebrated beneath the morning sky. Freedom felt wonderful. Sharing it with a friend felt even better.
